

Australian Dollar Subdued as WTI Oil Price Falls

The Australian Dollar subdued tone rolls over into Tuesday as international oil markets open on a bearish note in Europe. West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude starts trading at $64.29 per barrel, lower than Monday's close at $64.43. This decline in oil prices is a consequence of easing global demand and increasing supply expectations.

<https://crafin.com/australian-dollar-subdued-oil-dip/>